Thirty-Three Have Signed—Thirty-three men have subscribed to the roster of the new first-aid hospital. When the number reaches 100, organization will be effected.

Quilt at Goldfield—Henry Klingenberg of Goldfield is in the city for a few days on route to Florida. He says the situation is rather quiet at the old mining camp.

Broke His Arm—Roy Brighton of 223 Thirteenth East street fell from the bleachers at Cummings field Saturday afternoon, and broke his arm. He was picked up by a crowd and bleeding and carried to his home.

New Coal Supply—The Independent Coal company of this city is producing over 300 tons daily from its southern mines, most of which is coming to this city. The output is being increased as facilities and the number of miners increase.

Adjusting Redman Losses—Thomas Fritch, representing the Niagara Fire insurance company, is in the city from the east, to adjust the losses sustained by his company by the burning of the Redman Van & Storage company property. Mr. Fritch is being entertained by Messrs. Stone and Palmer of this city.

Lecture Tonight—John Barrett will lecture on South America this evening in the First Congregational church. In the University of Utah course, Mr. Barrett has held important diplomatic positions with the United States government, and at the present time is a director of the bureau of American republics.

Progress on Federal Bridge—Work on Federal bridge is addition is being pushed, so that the locality is presenting a striking and attractive appearance with its newly laid out streets, its cement walks, curbs, and new trees recently set out. There are many visitors up there every Sunday, and rapid progress is being made. Already $70,000 worth of contracts have been awarded.

Horticultural Session—At Saturday afternoon's meeting of the Salt Lake County Horticultural society, Mrs. J. Edwards Taylor spoke on the Sacramento exhibit. Nicholas Bywater spoke on tree pruning, and J. P. Sorenson talked on tree spraying. Prof. Northrup of the University of California was to read a paper, but was unable to be present.

Knocked Down in Street—George Ruck, aged 12, son of William Ruck of 349 South West Temple street, was knocked down Saturday afternoon, while crossing the street, by a horse driven by City Planning Inspector R. Rockholt. Fortunately the child escaped with only bruises. Mr. Ruck was urged to have Rockholt arrested, but declined, as he did not want the publicity involved in such action.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT TABERNACLE

Elder Joseph W. McMurrin Discourses on Gospel of Ancient and Modern Times.

STRONG PARALLELS DRAWN.

Story of Martyrdom of Prophet Joseph Smith Vividly Recited—Spirit of Man Eternal.

The speaker at the tabernacle yesterday was Elder Joseph W. McMurrin, of the first council of seventy, who discoursed interestingly upon the gospel as it existed anciently and as restored in latter days. Strong parallels were drawn between the experiences of the former-day saints and the latter-day saints, and the origin of some of the Protestant churches was briefly traced. The story was told of the events leading up to and the restoration of the gospel to the Prophet Joseph Smith, and the martyrdom was recited by Elder McMurrin in a very vivid manner.

The services were presided over by President John R. Winder. Elder Rodney C. Badger offered the opening prayer and Elder Joseph S. Wells pronounced the benediction. The selection rendered by the choir was "Great God Attend," "O God our help in ages past," and the anthem "On Beauty of Holiness."

ELDER J. W. McMURRIN.

The latter-day saints differ in many respects, said Elder McMurrin, from other religious denominations. One of these differences is the belief that men and women who have never heard the plan of salvation as proclaimed by the Son of God will yet have that privilege, and that none will suffer condemnation for failure to obey the law that they know not of. The spirit of man is eternal, not being subject to death as is his body. Man was created to live eternally, and he cannot die until he has received the message of salvation as proclaimed by the Redeemer of the world. God the Father will not condemn to perdition millions of His creatures without a hearing. All shall hear His voice, and those who listen shall advance step by step in the course of everlasting progression.

GOSPEL MISUNDERSTOOD.

Though preached to the world for upwards of 19 centuries, Mormonism is widely misunderstood and misapprehended. Some oppose it ignorantly and some fight it wilfully. The speaker told of having once listened to a lecture by the noted English Free thinker, Charles Bradlaugh, upon invitation of a Mr. White, who had been very friendly to the elders laboring in Great Britain. Mr. Bradlaugh took for his theme the question, "Is Christianity a Persecuting Religion?" He was well versed in the history of religious warfare, one sect against another, and made a strong case in favor of his argument. But Elder McMurrin observed that no evidence was forthcoming that real Christianity was in the least responsible for the atrocities painted by Mr. Bradlaugh. The crimes spoken of had been committed by men and churches, but not by the lack of Christianity, but for the lack of it. Men and churches assume to be Christians had done things in its name that were in direct contradiction to the teachings of the lowly Nazarene and His apostles.

A young man in the audience asked Mr. Bradlaugh a number of questions, among them being one whether the lecturer did not believe that Christianity had had a divine guidance in order to withstand the opposition that had been turned against it. In answer, Mr. Bradlaugh cited the experiences of the latter-day saints as strongly parallel to that of the early Christians, and invited the young man to answer his own question.

SOME HISTORY QUOTED.

The causes that led to the action of Henry VIII in proclaiming himself head of the church in England were related by Elder McMurrin, who also set forth the circumstances leading up to the excommunication of Luther and other reformers from the Catholic church. The situation was simply this, observed the speaker, the true Church of Christ was not to be found in the Catholic church. If the question be answered in the affirmative, the reformers were guilty of wrongdoing in opposing the organization to which they had belonged. If the answer be in the negative, the Church of Christ, it was beyond their power to make it so. A Luther could not establish Christianity, and no one but Christ himself could.

Elder McMurrin told the story of the appearance of the Father and Son to the youth, Joseph Smith, in answer to his petition for divine light, and the tragedy that followed a few years later, after the Church of Jesus Christ had been firmly re-established on earth was recited. The principles and doctrines of the Church were dwelt upon by the speaker in a comprehensive manner.

CURES WINTER COUGH.

J. E. Gover, 301 N. Main St., Ottawa, Kan., writes: "Every fall I have trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it has been able to keep me all night long. Whenever the cough troubles me, I take a dose and it keeps me all night long. I am able to be up and well." See ad. and get it sold by Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept., 112 and 114 South Main St.

THE CURRENCY FAMINE.

Review of the Storing Events of the Past Month.

After the financial panic events followed the usual course. When the crisis had passed the country found itself confronted with a variety of inconveniences and difficulties. The currency famine was the most serious. The banks had drained them of standard reserve money. The depositors would have been just as well satisfied to take bank notes, but there was no way of replenishing the supply of notes to meet the emergency. Consequently the reserve money was drawn out and largely hoarded in safe deposit vaults, and the currency famine was the result. A hidden away meant the destruction of four dollars of bank credits.

What was needed was an acceptable circulating medium, in sufficient quantity to meet the needs of business at a time when the ordinary supply of money was to a great extent in hiding. Every device permissible under the laws was adopted, and in some cases the law was pretty severely strained. In substantially all the cities of the country the banks dispensed with currency payments among themselves by issuing clearing house certificates. They engaged about $30,000,000 of gold for import, running forward cotton, wheat, copper, and other products to establish new credits abroad. American securities were sold in great volume to foreign investors at bargain prices. Arrangements were made to increase the bank note circulation by using government bonds previously held as security for treasury deposits and substituting other collateral for the latter purpose.

With all this there was still a shortage in the supply of currency passing from hand to hand. Speculators bought money at premiums of 2 or 3 per cent, paying in certified checks. In many cases wages were paid wholly or partly in checks, which went to pay trade money bills. Some banks issued cashier's checks for one dollar and upward, with a view to having them go into general circulation—a scheme which escaped the eyes of the law. In short, all the expedients of the panic of 1893 were repeated. The straits of the business world, confined to no action, but extending to every corner of the Union, brought the question of currency reform out into the open. The shadow of abstract discussion into the spot light of the most practical kind of practical politics. No great reform is ever adopted in this country because it seems theoretically desirable. There must be the pinch of an urgent present necessity. The psychological moment for currency reform seems to have come; the president is known to favor it; the bankers, who have never been able to admit before, are under heavy pressure to do so; the politicians have the necessary stimulus of popular interest and the outlook is favorable for action at the coming session of Congress which will make a currency famine impossible in future.—Collier's.

TWO MORE CORPORATIONS.

Oil and Mining Companies File Articles With County Clerk.

The Morris Oil company has filed articles of incorporation in the office of the Salt Lake county clerk with a capital of $25,000 divided into shares of the par value of $100 each. The company is named as president, Ben H. Hammett, secretary, David H. Morris, vice president, and these three persons are also directors. The company has a principal place of business at Salt Lake City.

The regular monthly meeting of the Salt Lake Stake will be held at the stake tabernacle on Saturday, Nov. 23, at 7:30 a. m. It is desired that the saints generally attend this meeting.

The quarterly conference of the Granite stake will convene at the stake tabernacle on Sunday, Nov. 24, 1907, at 10 a. m. Meetings to commence at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. It is especially desired that the saints be in attendance at the morning session.

LINGERING COLD.

Withstand Other Treatment But Quickly Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"Last winter I caught a very severe cold which lingered for weeks," says J. Zepher, of Zepher Bros., 201 E. 2nd St., Salt Lake City. "I tried many remedies, but it was very dry and harsh. The local dealer recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I bought a bottle of it. I cured myself in a few days. I am now well and strong. I am a small bottle of it cured me. I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best I have ever used. This remedy is for sale by all druggists."

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

State Officers Enthusiastic Over Prospects at Provo.

Adjutant General Wedgewood and Colonel Plummer are much encouraged over the prospects for a company of infantry at Provo. Fifty-four names have been secured, which assures success of the movement, and the hall just vacated by the Elks has been secured as an armory. The hall includes a 40x60 assembly room, with an adjoining kitchen, bath, steam heat, and a number of other conveniences. It is believed that the letter G will be given to the new company, and E to the new company organization at Richfield. This will make the First Infantry to consist of eight companies, two full battalions. The regularity is for a regiment of infantry is 12 companies, but it is doubted if this increase can be made under a year or two.
